

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A differential assembly for a motor vehicle includes a plurality of pinion gears in meshing engagement with a plurality of side gears. At least one of the pinion gears and side gears is formed from a tubular insert and a tubular preform forged together in a forging die. A method for manufacturing a differential assembly is also provided.